

Application No. 168: Post-it wall

Author: F. L. B., France, lebouffantparis@yahoo.fr

Notes et al seem to float freely on the wall

In your "Practical" category I was able to find useful applications before, which led me to think about how to make daily life easier.

I never enjoyed being reminded of the daily responsibilities. I mostly ignore regular notes.

By accident I found out that your disc magnets (www.supermagnete.de/eng/S-15-08-N) adhere to the edge of my walls.

Since then I hang up notes everywhere throughout the house, which do not go unnoticed.

Meanwhile, it's not just notes anymore that I hang up on my walls: Scissors, pens, magnetic ring... I even hung up my USB stick, which is attached to a magnetic hook (www.supermagnete.de/eng/FTN-25)!

Your magnets are really genius and the applications almost infinite.

Note from the supermagnete team: Even more discreet would be white hook magnets (e.g. FTNW-16 (www.supermagnete.de/eng/FTNW-16)).

Note from the supermagnete team why this application works:

In some homes a metal profile is embedded in the wall edges, so an edge doesn't disintegrate as easily when you bang furniture against it. That is not the case with all wall edges though. Test your wall edges before attaching something breakable.
